

We're awfully proud of our recent release, the S2 Form Processor and wanted to tell people about it, especially 37signals, after all, our Highrise version is specifically for them. So I sent over an e-mail letting them know that we'd released our software, wanted them to know, and inquired about getting listed on their Extras & Add-ons page.

To be honest, I expected to get a canned response to my inquiry with some legal mumbo-jumbo and a series of mortgage application-like questions wanting to know what I've been up to for the last 15 years. Boy were we surprised at their response. Within minutes they Tweeted us and placed us right up on the Extras & Add-ons page for Highrise. It was like a digital versions of when life was simpler, they just cut through the bull we've come to expect, trusted us and made it happen.

So, thank you 37signals, you all do it right, and remind us of something that's often forgotten these days, trust is good.
